THE AVERY OAK

When the town of Dedham, Mass., was incorporated in 1635 there stood within its borders a mature oak tree and beneath its branches, one of the earliest settlers, Dr. Wm. Avery (4) built his home. This great tree measured over twenty-five feet around its base and was sixteen feet in circumference, five feet above the ground.

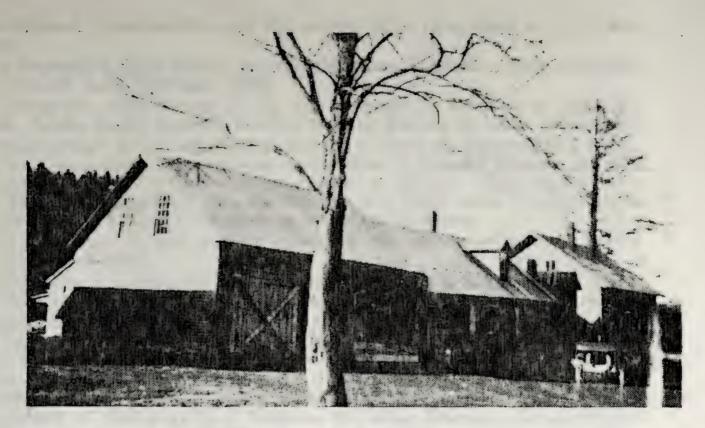

Shipbuilders seeking timbers for the U. S. frigate Constitution in 1794 offered seventy-five dollars for the tree which the owner refused.

A severe snow storm at one time completely blocked the doors of the Avery home and from the second story windows the family secured fuel from their oak tree until released from their temporary prison. The tree remained a part of the Avery property until recent years.

It was incorporated in the town seal of Dedham, the only tree in the U.S. to be used in this manner.

The destructive hurricane which swept the Atlantic coast in Sept. 1938 uprooted this beloved landmark, ending the life of one of the most famous trees in New England.

THE GEORGE AVERY HOME, Lowell, Vermont

An ancient Chinese proverb says, "Not to know one's ancestors is to be a tree without roots—a stream without a source."

George and Delilah Avery were the parents of ten children. One of the ten, Thatcher lived only four and a half years, the other nine lived to maturity and married. The records show that David C., Thatcher, Phoebe, Mary and Albert were born in Morristown, Vermont, then in 1835 the family moved to Lowell, Vermont, where George, Henry, Sarah, Lucia and Julia Ett were born.

George Avery was a farmer by occupation and settled on land at the headwaters of the Lamoile river in heavy timber country which had to be cleared for use as farm land. Life was strenuous but they were a light hearted and contented family. The girls were versed in the arts of weaving and knitting and the boys were expert woodsmen.

The first farm home was of logs with a stone chimney and fire place. There was a crane on the right side and a great stone oven which was heated once a week for general baking. Later the family hauled logs to a sawmill to be sawed into boards for a permanent home. The shingles were made at home. Often this shingle making was the winter evening pastime for the family. The girls helped in "bunching" the shingles which were used, not alone to cover the home roof but also to pay store bills.

Along in the "Fifties" stories of the rich land in the Missouri valley began to be heard in the East and Albert Avery who was by this time about twenty-four years old, was the first of the Avery family to venture westward. He came as far west as Ohio and taught a term of school there, then his brother George joined him and together they made the journey to the Kansas territory in 1858.

Albert married Calista Whitemore in Batchellor, Kan., (now known as Milford, in 1859. On February 17, 1861 the wife died leaving a tiny baby son, Calistas. Kind neighbors helped to care for the baby until warm weather arrived.

In the spring of 1861, Albert sold his farm and took his wee son via ox cart to Leavenworth, the nearest railway station where he boarded the train for Vermont. Calistas gained a pound during the journey and grandfather, grandmother and the young folks gave them a royal welcome.

In September 1862 Albert married Rosaline Farman. They remained in Vermont until February 1866.

During this time George Avery had returned to Vermont to claim his bride, Jennie Smith in 1863, coming back to Kansas to make their home.

When Albert Avery returned to Kansas in 1866 the Streeter and Elkins families came also. The railway ended then in Topeka so here the men bought two lumber wagons and two teams of horses. They loaded their families and belongings into the wagons and thus made the remainder of the journey taking three days to cover the distance.

On his return to this vicinity Albert Avery purchased a farm known as the Taylor farm.

Riley Elkins worked for several months as a farm helper before homesteading the farm which was the Elkins family home for forty years.

Lucas Streeter bought forty acres from his brother-in-law George and set up his home on this land, later buying more land to the north and west of his home. This farm is now (1940) known as the Ben Shaner farm.

Henry Avery married Orpha Farman on February 25, 1865 and in the spring of that year they followed the other Kansas adventurers locating on the farm now (1940) known as the Chester Alquist farm. This was their home for many years and here all of the children were born.

Many years later Henry Avery purchased the farm now the home of H. W. Avery his son near Wakefield.

In 1867 grandfather and grandmother Avery spent a summer in Kansas among their children.

In their absence their youngest daughter Juliette with her husband kept the home fires burning on the Vermont farm.

When grandfather and grandmother Avery returned to Vermont they told such glowing stories of the west and its possibilities that A. P. Lawrence and his wife Juliette decided to seek a home in Kansas and arrived here in 1868. They homesteaded the farm on Otter Creek, now (1940) known as the Hugh McClurkin farm.

In 1873 grandfather and grandmother "joined the majority" in the west. They homesteaded an eighty (now a part of the H. W. Avery farm) and bought an eighty of son Albert.

On July 9, 1876 grandmather Avery passed away and following this grandfather returned to Vermont for a visit of several months. When he returned to Kansas in January 1877 his daughter Sarah Richardson and two children came with him and Sarah kept house for grandfather that year. Wm. Richardson joined them in the spring.

In the autumn of 1877 the Joel Hinds family arrived in Kansas and came to live at first with grandfather so the Richardson family moved to a log cabin on the Elkins farm. Here they lived until 1879 when they moved once more to the farm south of Wakefield which has since been the Richardson family home. Eustace home in 1940.

One son David Cummings never came west. He died in Milbury, Mass., in August, 1872, leaving a wife who was a helpless cripple from rheumatism and four small children. This family had lost a lovely daughter lifteen years of age in 1871 and a baby boy in 1870. Only a month after the father's death a baby girl about a year old also passed away.

Some months after their father's death, Frank, Walter and George Avery came to Kansas and lived with their various aunts and uncles until they were able to do for themselves. In later years the mother and daughter, Lucy joined the relatives here—thus bringing the ninth family of Averys to sunny Kansas.

GEORGE AVERY

ELIZABETH J. AVERY

George Avery" married Miss E. J. Smith, Apr. 7, 1863, at Lowell, Vermont.

Fourth son of George and Delilah Cummings Avery. Born at Lowell, Vermont, May 20, 1836, died April 1, 1902. George Avery was a pioneer of Riley County, Kansas.

After five years of batching he returned to Vermont and after a whirlwind courtship of two weeks married Elizabeth Jane Smith, Apr. 7 1863.

In 1860 he and H. H. Whiting in company with some teams from Manhattan, started for Denver with corn. It was the first attempt to find a western market and it proved to be successful. For years afterward there was considerable frieghting across the plains from this vicinity. In 1861 he brought the first threshing machine into the settlement that was owned west of Manhattan. In 1940 the horsepower of this machine is still used in the Madison Creek neighborhood for a home made merrygo-round.

In 1862 he made his second trip to Denver in company with Marsh Barry with farm produce. He realized about $700.00 from this trip.

He used this money to go east and get married.

July 1, 1876 he bought his first dropper attachment for a mower. The first reaper of any kind for that vicinity. He bought his first twine binder about 1885.

He was one of the organizers of school district No. 5 of Riley County, afterwards changed to District Jt.3. He was a member of the school board for many years.

He was a member of the State Militia and took part during the Indian raids driving them from the Miltonvale vicinity to the Indian Territory.

Florence Richardson Eustace Born Jan. 4, 1879

The photo is of our efficient secretary of the Avery Clan, and the compiler of this book. It was through her painstaking efforts the data for this book was made possible. We know the members of the Clan will enjoy its contents for many years to come. We extend to her our sincere appreciation and gratitude. Florence Richardson Eustace was born at Wakefield, Kansas, January 4, 1879. Her early life was spent with her parents, Sarah Avery Richardson and William Richardson, near Wakefield. She taught school and on April 13, 1900, she was married to Frank A. Eustace. Up to the time of this publication, they have lived on their farm one mile south of Wakefield. They have four children: Asahel, Elsie, Clifford and Grace. Florence has done everything well that comes to a rural school pupil, teacher, farm homemaker and good neighbor. Not an easy life, always busy, many problems and hard work but never discouraged and always cheerful.

The Avery Coat of Arms

"Avery (Huwish co. Somerset and Enfield, co. Middlesex) Gules a fesse (sometimes chevron) or, between three bezants, crest, two lions' gambs or, supporting a bezant." Gules means red; a fesse is a broad bar horizontally across the center of a shield; a chevron is a broad inverted "V"-shaped form; or means gold color; and a bezant is a small gold-colored disc (from the gold coins of the Byzantum). A chevron is ordinarily supposed to represent the rafters of the gable of a house. Gambs refers to the entire foreleg of the lion."

The design may vary in shape and decoration except for being true to the "charge" given above. A popular choice is the ancient shield shape, tilted as if it were hanging on the wall of the Great Hall, the helmet perched upon the upper corner. The wreath or chaplet of two different colored silks wound around each other and placed on top of the helmet is slightly curved and formed of the livery colors, red and gold. The scroll is the riband, above or below the escutcheon, on which the motto is enscribed. No motto can be found for the Avery family, so this remains plain. A helmet done in polished steel, as is the Avery's, lets us assume the Avery forebears were esquires or gentlemen.

Robert Avery¹ of Somerset was a yeoman or husbandmen, one who tilled his own land as distinguished from a tenant. It seems that his eldest son, William² fell under his father's displeasure and left his native parish with little inheritance. His son Robert³ appears in the records as a blacksmith who was able to leave each of his sons a "parcell of land" in 1644. However, the elder son, Dr. William⁴, our ancestor, chose to cast his lot with the settlers who came to Dedham, Massachusetts, in 1650.

Chas.11. A. Streeter, 1908

Alice E. (Fullington) Streeter, 1878

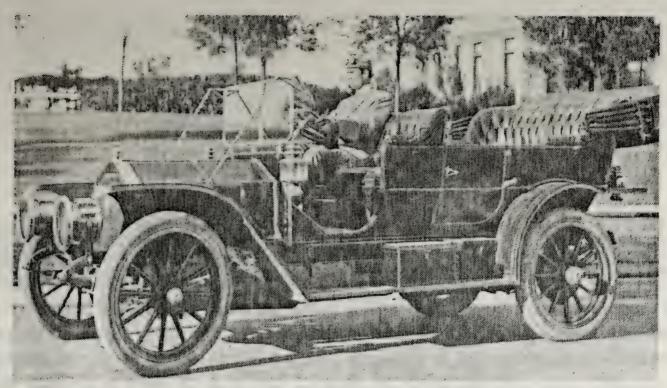

Annie<sup>12</sup> (Streeter) Haney as a KSAC student in 1899. Annie's husband, John Haney, whom she met at KSAC, worked as manager of Ag Experiment Stations in Kansas and Iowa.

C. Fred<sup>12</sup> Streeter — First job as chauffeur in Oklahoma City, 1910.

Fred Streeter attended Auto Mechanic School in Kansas City. He was one of the early chauffeurs. He was Field Service man for Cleveland Tractor Company and worked for Maxwell Motors. Later he was a driver for White and Myers Chautauqua System when roads were poor. For many years he lived in Detroit, Michigan, where he had an oil burner sales and service business.

Lyman B.12 Streeter, 1950

College dormitories were non-existent in 1903, so C. A. Streeter bought land near KSAC and put a small house on it where Grace Streeter kept house for her brother, Lyman, while they attended KSAC. C. A. Streeter had a windmill moved from the farm so they could have water. Grace and Lyman graduated in 1907. Grace's husband, M. G. Smith, received a Dr. of Veterinary Medicine degree in 1908. They lived in California, where Bert gained fame as an amateur photographer.

In 1883, C. A. Streeter, with his father-in-law, Bradley E. Fullington, built a water-powered grist mill at the point where Madison and Spring Creeks united. It cost $5,000.00, and had a daily capacity of 100 bushels of wheat and 300 bushels of feed. C. A.'s son, Lyman, operated the mill until 1942. The Farmers' Mill, later called Streeter Mill, made three grades of flour besides breakfast cereal and feeds, using stone buhrs. Custom grinding was solicited from farmers in the area, as evidenced by this advertising letter dated September 1, 1898. The wife of C. A. Streeter's grandson was told that her grandparents, the Carl Ericson's of Lower Seven Mile near Ogden, brought wheat by wagon to the Farmers' Mill for grinding.

FARMERS' MILLS

MILFORD, KANSAS, SEPT. 1, 1898.

TO MY FARMER FRIENDS:

Wheat is low in price, and probably will continue so for a time, but we can save you money by exchanging Flour and Bran for your wheat.

We give 32 pounds of Patent, or 34 pounds of Gold Dust, or 36 pounds of Bakers' Choice, and 12 pounds of Bran per bushel for wheat testing 60 pounds, and for wheat testing less in proportion.

SPECIAL PRICES ON FLOUR IN 500 POUND LOTS.
Best market price paid for wheat.

As the name indicates, the mill is for the farmer, and we solicit your patronage and will make it for your interest to come and see us. As usual, we are prepared to do all kinds of grinding, including Rye and Buckwheat in their season.

Thanking you for past favors, and asking you for a continuance of the same,

I am yours for business, CHAS. A. STREETER.

Today water would come to second story windows. Mother, Fred and Grace in buggy. Annie and Lyman in cart. Hired girl and man at right.

After the marriage of Alice Fullington and C. A. Streeter, they lived at the Fullington place on Spring Creek. In about 1890 they built their house 14 mile east of the Mill, paying carpenters 60 cents a day for their work. After Lyman's marriage, the house was the home of his family. Sometime in the 1920's, Lyman, being of an inventive mind, decided to make things easier about the farm. He installed a separate turbine-type water wheel at the mill to drive a generator which provided electricity for use in the Mill, and the farm home and buildings 1/4 mile away. The power was used for lights, milking cows, clipping sheep, washing, churning butter, cleaning the dairy barn, turning the ice cream freezer, etc. A unique feature of the set-up was a system devised for opening and closing the water wheel from the farm home, thus turning on and off the power and regulating its voltage from a convenient location. This was done by two heavy wires from the house to the mill. One wire not only completed the electric circuit, but was used for opening and closing the water wheel. It was suspended on swinging arms on the poles and kept taut by heavy weights on each end. Cables were attached which wrapped around large drums, making it possible to pull the wire back and forth with a hand crank. This power source was used until REA became available in early 1940. Lyman was a booster for REA and worked to bring it into the community. He also served for many years on the board of the Milford Congregational Church.

G. Arthur<sup>11</sup> Streeter, 1890 — G. A. Streeter was a photographer in Junction City until 1906. He later had a photographic studio in Shawnee, Ok.

Abbie J.11 (Streeter) Moses, 1900

Abbie J. Moses was a very devoted Christian and church worker. Her husband, George C. Moses, was a contractor before 1900, and built many native stone buildings in northern Kansas, including many at Fort Riley. Several of the buildings were County Court Houses and are still standing.

Clyde E.12 Moses, 1940

Abbie Ruth<sup>12</sup> Moses, 1905

Clyde E. Moses was associated for nearly forty years with Geo. C. Moses & Son lumber company in Junction City, Kansas. He entered the firm shortly after its purchase by his father, George C. Moses, in 1900. He retired in 1941. He was a director of both the First National Bank and the Citizens Building and Loan Association for many years, and was a prominent member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Abbie Ruth Moses attended Moody Bible Institute. For forty years, she was the organist at the Presbyterian Church. She was a long-time treasurer of the D.A.R., and a Director of the First National Bank.

In 1923 Albert Mitchell had a narrow escape while fighting a fire for the Fire Service at the head of Couger Creek in Washington. They went into the canyon from the summit at the head of the creek taking three days to go a distance of 112 miles because of cliffs and down timber. He followed mountain goat trails (where dirt filled the cracks in rocks) on the steep hill side where he could see the fire burning in a small gully which was about half way up the hill or about 2500 feet high. Trees had fallen and rolled into the gully from both sides and also from up the hill which made a lot of fuel. He decided to climb straight up the hill to the summit. After climbing a short distance he came to a place with a short vertical cliff with a 2-foot flat ledge at the base but with a 5-foot gap making it necessary to jump. Before he jumped the gap a log burned into and started rolling towards him bringing several tons of loose rock and dirt with it. Albert doesn't remember jumping the gap but has a vivid recollection of being on his knees, making himself as small as possible with rock about the size of a small cookstove on down to sand going by his shoulder and where he had been standing a moment before. The only thing that touched him was a little sand. He had easy going to the top of the hill from then on even though it was a 60 percent grade.

Another close accident Albert experienced was in 1935 when he was employed by the Forest Service as a fireman. He was sent where two little boys had set a fire to a barn on an abandoned homestead while smoking. There was a dug well about five feet square filled with water about six feet from the top. He made a platform just above the water to set a marine gas pump on and nailed a two-by-four about leg length from the top to a side wall for a step to climb out on. He set up the pump and started the engine. After getting the engine to run at maximum speed he stepped on the step and fell to the ground with his legs still in the well. The fall was caused from being overcome with carbon monoxide gas and he was fortunate to have fallen outside the well.

GEORGE" AVERY AND ELIZABETH JANE SMITH

George E.<sup>11</sup> (Ted), cattle rancher, at age 19 first ventured west from his childhood home on Madison Creek to the Spanish Peak area in Colorado to work as a "cowpuncher" for a three-year hitch. He returned to join his brother A. J. in a grain elevator and creamery business in Wakefield and later took over the family homestead for a number of years. Ted's first wife, Myra, died when their fifth child was born, March 13, 1901, at Milford, Kansas. Two and a half years later he married a young widow with two children, Mrs. Ardella (Della) Taylor. To this union three more children were born.

In 1911 Ted sold the homestead, moving to Missouri for a short time, but remembering his dream of owning a cattle ranch in the West, he soon purchased a ranch 25 miles south of Wigwam, Colorado. In 1917 he purchased a "Model T" Ford to bring supplies to the ranch. His entire life was devoted to community affairs, and he also assisted relatives in promoting the Louis Lake irrigation project near Lander, Wyoming. Desire for adventure kept Ted and his family on the move, operating ranches at Woodman, Fountain, Last Chance, Bush, and Lakewood, where he died Feb. 3, 1944 and lies buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Colorado Springs, Colorado. Della passed away August 23, 1960 and is buried beside her husband.

Minnie Louise<sup>11</sup>, the eldest sister who cared for the others in the family until her marriage to Loren Butzbach in 1892, lived with her family on farms near Milford, Riley, Wakefield, and South Haven near Wellington, Kansas, until moving to Fountain, Colorao in 1919. Loren combined a wood-sawing business with his farming. Two boys and two girls were born to this union.

When Loren died in 1932, Minnie lived on in the big house in Fountain until she sold it and visited around with relatives: her son, Ralph, in Colorado Springs; her brother, Ted, at Bush; and with her daughter Luetta's children. The last ten years of her life she made her home with her youngest daughter, Gladys, in Colorado Springs, helping to raise the twins. Minnie was a devoted wife, mother, and grandmother, always quiet and industrious, busy making life easier for others. She pieced many quilts, crocheted and embroidered, and knew how to make thrifty use of household resources. She passed away January 3, 1948, at the home of her daughter, Gladys.

Albion John<sup>11</sup> (Allie or A. J.) spent most of his life on a farm next to his father's homestead near Riley, Kansas, but followed several occupations in his earlier years. He took a short course in entomology at Kansas State Agriculture College at Manhattan, graduated in telegraphy from old Campbell College in Holton, served briefly as a telegrapher at Wakefield and other towns, and worked with his brother, Ted, in an elevator and creamery business at Wakefield. In 1895 he rented from his father the farm he later bought and occupied continuously until it was taken into the Fort Riley Reservation in 1966. In 1903 Allie married a local school teacher, Hilda Clark, and to them four children were born. In 1939 they purchased a home in Wakefield, which was earlier built and occupied by his brother, Henry.

For 44 years farming was Allie's occupation, and progressive agricultural methods were his pride, always being the first to modernize his equipment and use new soil improving practices. He was an active and responsible member of the Hillside community, serving 35 years as clerk of the school board that his father helped organize. He loved to make annual automobile trips, was a great lover of flowers, especially roses, and after moving to Wakefield, spent many hours making useful articles from the native walnut lumber he had earlier cured, and cleverly repairing furniture for himself as well as for neighbors and friends. After his wife's death Feb. 12, 1947, he spent much time visiting his children, passing away at his daughter Ethel's home at Circleville, Kansas, December 20, 1949.

Since Irving L.<sup>11</sup> had no descendants this is the way his nieces and nephews remember his life. After selling out his Furniture Business he had with his brother, Henry, he and his wife, Lucy, moved to Colorado Springs where he worked in a furniture store. Soon he bought a ranch near Buena Vista where he had a dairy, raised potatoes, lettuce, and hay for the cows, and also worked in town in a lumber yard which he later bought. His nephew, Shirley Avery, was asked to run the ranch in 1933 and Irving and Lucy moved to town. Later Shirley bought the cows and the ranch was sold. Uncle Irving bought the lumber yard and ran it until he sold it in 1942 and retired. Aunt Lucy died September 21, 1940 and was buried in Kansas, but Uncle Irving is buried in Buena Vista. He was a strong Mason and was head of the lodge in Buena Vista for some time. Irving died January 27, 1951.

Inis F.<sup>11</sup>, brown-eyed and intellectual, graduated from the University of Kansas in June, 1897, and married a fellow school teacher, Frank Chapman, at Milford the following spring. Later they operated a hardware store which they sold to buy stocks in the Louis Lake Irrigation Project at Lander, Wyoming. They, with their three children, arrived there April 13, 1913 to find three feet of snow and many adventures awaiting them. Life became difficult during World War I and the depression that followed. They operated a dairy, raised berries, fruit, and truck garden produce, took prizes at the county and State fairs with their fancy chickens, and purchased what is now Lander's Capitol Hill Addition.

The family was active in the Congregational Church, Inis teaching Sunday School and Frank helping to build the new church. They held many offices in Odd Fellows and Golden Rebekah Grand Lodge. Inis was an outstanding 4-H leader and extension club member, had many interesting hobbies: tatting, crocheting, quilting, and hooking beautiful rugs, designing the patterns herself, and they both read and studied extensively in their private library.

Frank died April 20, 1940, but Inis continued to live a full and interesting life past her 97th birthday. She was a fine-looking lady, always dressing neatly with an erect and graceful walk. Inis died October 3, 1968.

Melvia Fairietta<sup>11</sup> was educated in Kansas as a doctor, a difficult task in a day when this profession was strictly "a man's world." However, she become a very compassionate, understanding, and successful horse-and-buggy doctor, known especially for successful treatment of blood poisoning, a dread disease in those days.

Taking her household goods, horse, and a one-seated buggy by emigrant train, Melvia, with her sister Bernice, accompanied the Chapman family in 1913 to Lander, Wyoming, where they established her office in a frame building, later torn down to built the new First National Bank, and became active in the Congregational Church. Dr. Avery later bought a car but never really liked it, finding the horse and buggy more dependable in that rugged country. Day or night, if needed, Dr. Avery with sister, Bernice, and nephew, Raymond, a premature baby she mothered for his first three years, would drive Old Pet to make their calls. Aged 38, beloved Dr. Avery passed away November 19, 1917 during a gall bladder operation.

Henry Albert<sup>11</sup>, a carpenter, graduated from Kansas State Agricultural College in 1905 and became a partner with his brother, Irving, in the hardware, furniture, and motorcycle business in Wakefield, later completing an undertaking and embalming course in Kansas City when they included these services. He married Nellie DeYoung in 1908, and in 1919 they and their young son, Dwight, sold out and went to California for the winter. Long Beach was in a building boom. When it was found that Henry could use a hammer, he was given a job and became a fine cabinet maker, passing his "know-how" on to his son who in turn became a manufacturer of travel trailer campers and motor homes.

Nellie died with a heart attack in 1949, and Henry lived on in their home. Henry loved sports: fishing, camping, and motorcycle and auto racing, and helped his son build prize racing boats. In his seventies he drove his own car back to Kansas to college and family reunions and caught and canned salmon during outings to Washington state. Following a successful operation for duodenal ulcer in November, 1960, Henry passed away from a pneumonia complication on November 30, 1960.

Bernice<sup>11</sup>, youngest sister and life-long companion of Dr. Melvia Avery became a practical nurse and lovingly cared for her sister's patients, either at their home and took them into their own. Neither sister married, and Bernice kept the home, sewed their clothes, and was an excellent cook. They both liked cats, and she gave them loving care. Bernice had a beautiful singing voice, and the Congregational Church was fortunate to have her in their choir. Also, she specialized in fancy embroidery. She was always kind, helpful, and thoughtful, and liked her nieces and nephews to call her "Aunt B." Bernice died at age 41 during an operation very similar to her sister's on June 14, 1925.

Herbert W. Avery<sup>12</sup> died May, 1963.

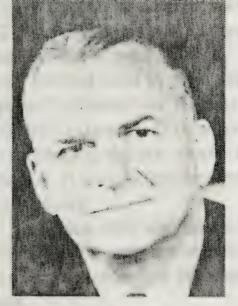

Herman W. Avery, a member of the Board of Agriculture from 1915 until 1933, passed away January 26, 1950. A horse lover and ardent agriculturalist, he had been president, vice-president, and treasurer of the Board.

The greatest part of his life was devoted to the agriculture and the institutions of Kansas. He was born north of Wakefield, Kansas in 1870 and spent most of his life near that location.

Mr. Avery was graduated from Kansas State Agricultural College in 1891. He immediately went into business with his father, Henry Avery, who was the pioneer importer and breeder of Percheron horses in Kansas. After producing some of the finest horses in the United States, they held a complete dispersal sale in the college pavilion in Manhattan in 1906. Most previous sale records for Percheron horses were topped at the sale.

After disposing of the horses, Mr. Avery remained on the farm and devoted more time to public life. He represented Clay and Dickinson counties in the state Senate in the sessions of 1909 and 1911 and was elected to the State Board of Agriculture in 1915. He was secretary of the State Fair from 1934 to 1936. He served 18 years on the Board of Agriculture and the Kansas State Fair Board of Managers.

Mr. Avery was named a Master Farmer in the class of 1928, served on the local high school board, and was field agent for the Federal Farm Board in 1930 and 1931.

William H. Avery United States Congressman from Kansas District, 1955-65, Governor of Kansas, 1965-1967.

Avery is married to the former Hazel Bowles of Junction City. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Avery taught music in the public school system. The Averys have four children: William H. II, 22; Mrs. E. Lauck Lanahan (Barbara), 18; Bradley, 14; and Martha Sue, 12.

Avery owns and operates a livestock farm near Wakefield. He served as director of the Wakefield School Board. From 1951 to 1954 he was a member of the Kansas House of Representatives and was selected for the Legislative Council.

In 1954 he was elected to the Congress of the United States and is now serving his fifth term. He is dean of the Kansas Congressional delegation. During his tenure as a Member of Congress, Avery has served on the Veterans Affairs Committee, the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee and the Rules Committee, from which he resigned June 22, 1964. He presently serves on the Select Committee of Small Business and is ranking minority member of the Private Calendar Committee.

Avery is a member of the Methodist Church, the Masonic Lodge, the Kansas Farm Bureau, the Kansas Livestock Association, the Kansas Association for Wildlife, the Lions Club and Delta Upsilon social fraternity.

Inaugurated January 11, 1965.

The following bits of information, opinions and comments were gathered from The High Plains Journal, Farmer Stockman, Kansas School Board Journal, the Topeka Daily Capital and other sources:

One big reason why Bill Avery didn't win a second term as Governor, he did what had to be done and he did it well.

He recommended and worked hard to increase revenue for the support of public schools, colleges and universities. He was against trying to do the job by raising the local property taxes. He recommended that the financial support be raised through increasing the state sales tax, the cigarette and liquor tax and the state income tax. It was the income tax that apparently caused the most resentment among voters.

Robert Docking and his political strategists played up the tax changes Bill was pushing, particularly the income tax increase.

Bill worked tirelessly to promote more job opportunities, bringing 234 new industries into the state.

He was active in support of farm organizations including the Kansas Wheat Commission, the Farm Bureau, the Kansas Association for Wildlife and the State Fair at Hutchinson.

In summary, Bill Avery has: 1. Provided leadership to strengthen the educational programs at all levels for Kansas youth, 2. Faced squarely the fiscal problems of the State of Kansas, and 3. Worked tirelessly to provide job opportunities for all Kansans.

The new industries Bill brought into the state created more than 9,400 new jobs, making employment the highest in the history of the state. Governor Avery also brought about the first reduction in property taxes in 22 years. A great many people regretted that he was not re-elected for a second term.

On Sept. 25, 1966, the Annual Avery Reunion was held in the Governor's Mansion at Cedar Crest. A record crowd of 275 relatives were present. Governor and Mrs. Avery, the daughters, Sue and Barbara, served as the hosts. Those coming the farthest were the Fred Bosleys from New Creek, West Virginia; Mrs. Mabel Gray from Dallas, Texas; Mrs. Lois Crall from Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Paul Sargent from McGregor, Iowa.

Being in the Governor's Mansion was a first for most of those present and having the opportunity to tour the famous dwelling house of Kansas Governors was a real treat.

The following note was clipped from the Topeka Daily Capital Saturday, August 17, 1968:

WRITER PRAISES BILL AVERY

To The Editor:

I have been intimately associated with Bill Avery for the past three and a half months in his campaign for the GOP nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Twenty-five years as a professional journalist, here and abroad, has ingrained into me a guarded cynicism of human frailties, particularly in politics. A politican must, at times, compromise to gain a part of his objective, regardless how high his ideals.

Bill Avery is an unusual man; not a politician, despite his service as governor and a 10-year member of the U.S. House of Representatives. In confidence I told intimate friends during the campaign, as my cynicism was challenged, that I did not believe he was the man he is.

He never considered at any time subjugating public responsibility to political expediency for a positive political advantage. What he said he meant. He meant what he said. No compromise.

I have never encountered anyone quite like him in 23 foreign countries and 36 states.

Kansans should be proud of this unusual man; not the politician and his grace in defeat, but as a statesman.

His birthday was Sunday, August 11. I sent him a card saying, "I can't believe it, but I know you are real." — L. S. CHAKALES, 2244 N. Yale, Wichita.

By the Grace of God and a Red Flannel Petticoat

It has been said that truth is stranger than fiction. I might add that truth is not always so kind. In fiction we expect a happy ending, and if things don't turn out to suit us, we console ourselves with the thought that it was only the product of someone's imagination.

The following incident has been handed down by word of mouth and printed record.

By 1876 George Avery the first, who was my mother's grandfather, and six of his eight living children had emigrated from Vermont to Kansas, in the Wakefield vicinity. Those who were here at that time were: Lucas Streeter and Mary, George Avery the second, Riley Elkins and Lucia, Albert Avery, Henry Avery, and Asahel P. Lawrence and Juliaette.

July 9, 1876, Delilah, the mother of the six children above mentioned died here in Kansas. That fall her husband, George went back to Vermont for several month's visit. He took with him his daughter, Lucia Elkins, and her infant son, Clouden.

Sarah Richardson, another daughter of Mr. Avery's, along with her son, Berton, fifteen years and her daughter, Elsie, seven years, decided to come to Kansas with her father and sister on their return trip in January, 1877.

At this point the petticoat comes into the story. Webster says, "a petticoat is a woman's loose underskirt." In pioneer days a flannel petticoat was prized as wonderful protection and comfort in winter. Red was the favorite color as it was thought to be warmer.

Mrs. Elkins had two of these precious garments. One she wore and the other she used to wrap Clouden in for sleeping. In those days hotel rooms were not heated. People had to govern themselves accordingly.

In the excitement of getting off to catch the morning train, Aunt Lucia forgot the petticoat that Clouden had slept in. When they arrived at the station it suddenly dawned on her what she had done. She knew exactly what she had to do. She handed Clouden to her sister, Sarah and said, "Keep him while I run back to the hotel and get his red flannel petticoat."

At this particular time the Ohio River was at flood stage as it so often is. The train did not wait for Mrs. Elkins to return. It started on its way across the river. The party of course never once thought of going on without Clouden's mother, so there they were when she arrived with the article that for some unknown reason she had overlooked that morning.

When the engine of the train had crossed the middle span of the bridge it collapsed, taking the entire train into the flood, and everyone was lost.

Clouden only lived to be six years old. In 1883 a sister, Mabel, was born. She is alive in 1967 and has four children and many grandchildren.

In the spring of 1878 William Richardson joined his family in Kansas, and January 4, 1879 my mother, Florence Richardson was born.

God chooses strange ways his wonders to perform.

Eugene Nelson Elkins

Elizabeth Elkins

Home built by Eugene Elkins in 1915 Now part of the Kansas Landscape Arboretum

Eugene Nelson Elkins was born in Milford, Ks. in 1868.

His first farm home was not far from Milford and to this home he brought his bride, Elizabeth Griffiths, in 1895.

Some years later he purchased and improved the home two miles south of Wakefield. It is this place that is now part of the Kansas Arboretum.

He was a Master Farmer and active in the work of the Wakefield Fair Association. He was president of the Farmers Elevator Association and one of the board of directors of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank.

A story of his work appeared in "Men of the Earth" by Lord.

Some years ago the Department of Agriculture sent out a questionnaire. In filling out a space entitled "anything else you consider is important," Mr. Elkins wrote, "My family, my home, my neighbors. The enjoyment I get from watching my crops and livestock develop. Our orchard, kitchen, garden, vineyard, shade trees, flowers, rose garden, etc."

"I have prospered beyond my wildest dreams. I have accumulated a million, but only a small part of this can be counted in dollars and cents. The rest of it comes in the satisfaction of seeing an unbroken country dotted only here and there with homesteader's dugouts develop into a prosperous settled country with beautiful modern homes. And the feeling that I have been a part of it."

His wife has gone back to college and will get her B.S. degree this winter term. Betty Luella Russel, daughter of Asahel Hinshaw, has had an interesting life. She was born in depression days when nothing was wasted and all the kids learned to work early in life. James Russel, Betty's husband, joined the armed services shortly after they were married. James has advanced to the rank of Colonel and likes his work. During their married years the Russels have lived in many parts of the U.S.A. and spent four years in Germany. Their oldest son, James, is in his first year of college. He is enrolled in R.O.T.C. and has joined the Bushmasters which is a military organization. Richard, the second son, will be a freshman in high school next fall. He is interested and active in football, swimming and other sports.
